Please be advised that Inmate Mijangos, E81550 (GW322L) has broken his glasses while performing his duties. Inmate Mijangos has been a productive worker for the Computer Repair Program since his assignment on 5/21/2002. On March 20, 2001, the CPU case was standing on it's side so Inmate Mijangos could re-secure the feet on the bottom of the case. He pulled his glasses from his face, laying them on the bench, to rub his eye. Suddenly, the student next to Mijangos, while moving a large monitor, bumped his CPU case causing the case to fall over onto his glasses. The frames were broken at the right temple. It will be appreciated if you could repair his glasses because he needs them to perform his duties.

Subject: J. Mijangos E81550

TO whom it may concern:

My Name is Larry Motherwell; I am the instructor for the Computer Refurbishing Program here at C.T.F., Soledad.

Mr. Mijangos has been assigned to the Vocational Computer Refurbishing since April 6, 2004 his days off are Sat, Sun and Holidays. The VCR Program is a combination of education and production areas. These areas were shutdown for a year due to some security problems. Mr. Mijangos and 5 others were given the task of completely disassembling the VCR area and reorganizing it to accommodate 27 students. The new vocational computer program was now designed to accomplish a twofold task; (1) students would have the ability to have educational studies; (2) and on the job training. This project took approximately 3 1/2 months. On July 13, 2004 the task of creating a classroom was complete enabling classes for the first time in 14 months. On September 4, 2004, Mr. Mijangos and 5 other individuals were told that the production portion of the VCR program was being shut down Statewide. Efforts would have to be made to have all donated equipment ready for shipment on November 1, 2004. VCR has been running since January 1996 and to have every nut/bolt and computer gone by November is an overwhelming task. Mr. Mijangos and 5 other individuals have been working everyday since that notice to pack-up and palletize 8 years of Computers and equipment. Due to Mr. Mijangos hard work and dedication to this program everything was done on time. Mr. Mijangos is a great worker, and outstanding individual that I would highly recommend for employment in any setting.

INTERPRETING GED TEST RESULTS

Performance on the GED Tests is reported in two ways:

(1) Standard scores and percentile ranks —

Results on each of the five GED Tests are given as standard scores ranging from 20 to 80 and percentile ranks ranging from 1 to 99; higher scores result from correctly answering more test questions. Both scores compare the examinee's results to those of a recent representative national sample of high school seniors. The average standard score for graduating high school seniors is 50; therefore, standard scores above 50 are above those of the typical recent high school graduate. The percentile ranks show the percent of the graduating seniors who earned scores at or below those of the examinee. For example, if an examinee's percentile rank is 30, the examinee's score is better than those of about 30 percent of the seniors.

(2) Passed, Failed, or Incomplete —

Each state, province and territory sets its own minimum scores for earning a high school equivalency credential. These minimum scores require examinees to earn scores as high as those of at least 27% of recent high school graduates. If the examinee scores meet or exceed the minimum required, the "Passed" box is marked; if not, the "Failed" box is marked. If any of the five subtests have not been completed, the "Incomplete" box is marked. Examinees who do not pass may retake the GED Tests in order to raise their scores. The local GED testing center can provide information about retesting. Additional preparation is usually recommended if examinees earn standard scores below 40. Local adult education programs often provide preparation classes as an aid in improving performance.

NOTE FOR RETEST SCORES: The scores on this report are the highest scores achieved by the examinee and not necessarily the most recent scores. If retest scores are lower than scores previously achieved, the retest scores are not reported.

The California Department of Education considers GED records confidential. GED records will not be released to any individual or agency, other than an authorized GED Testing Center, without a signed request from the examinee.

Dear Examinee:

July 19, 1994

Congratulations! You have achieved passing scores on the General Educational Development (GED) Tests, and we are pleased to present you with the California High School Equivalency Certificate. By law, the enclosed certificate is the equivalent of a high school diploma for employment purposes and must be accepted as such by all state and local public agencies in the State of California. An Official Report of GED Test Results and a wallet-sized certificate are also included in this package.

CONFIDENTIALITY

The California Department of Education considers your records confidential. We will not release them to any individual or agency, other than an Official GED Testing Center, without a signed request from you.

DUPLICATE RECORDS

If you need copies of your records, you must submit a signed request or an "Application to Release GED Records" form (available at local testing center) to this office that includes the following identifying information: Full name, GED ID number (in most cases, the social security number), date of birth, where tested, when tested, and mother's maiden name. This identifying information was originally collected by the testing center and is in our files. We compare any requests for records with this file data before releasing testing information. If you need duplicate records and were unable to provide the testing center with either the GED ID number or mother's maiden name, we will require a notarized statement verifying your identity in addition to the signed request.

Please do not request records by telephone or in person; we are only able to provide testing information following a written request.

DOCUMENT ERRORS

Examinees have 90 days from the issue date of the High School Equivalency Certificate to correct document errors. After this time records are considered permanent and will not be changed.

If any typographical errors appear on the Equivalency Certificate or Official Report of Test Results, return all documents to the State GED Office (address below) with a written explanation of the error. Most errors will be corrected and the documents reissued to you without charge. For information on name changes or other modifications, also contact the State GED Office in writing at the address below. Make sure to include your current mailing address!
